OWNER PRIVILEGES

- Contract owner can't mint tokens after initial contract deploy

- Contract owner can't exclude an address from transactions

- Contract owner has ability to retrieve any token held by the contract

  Native tokens NOT excluded

function removeStuckEth(address _receiver) public onlyOwner { payable(_receiver).transfer(address(this).balance);
}

function removeStuckToken(address _token, address _receiver, uint256 _amount) public onlyOwner { IERC20(_token).transfer(_receiver, _amount);
}
```

- SafeMath Is Redundant in Solidity 0.8+

  The SafeMath library is included, but Solidity 0.8+ has built-in overflow checks, making it unnecessary unless you're targeting backward compatibility or prefer code clarity.

  Recommendation: Consider removing SafeMath to reduce contract size and simplify code unless there's a specific reason to keep it.

- Contract owner can renounce ownership

```
function renounceOwnership() public virtual onlyOwner {
    emit OwnershipTransferred(_owner, address(0));
    _owner = payable(address(0));
}
```

- Contract owner can transfer ownership

```
function transferOwnership(address newOwner) public virtual onlyOwner { require( newOwner != address(0),
      "Ownable: new owner is the zero address"
    );
    emit OwnershipTransferred(_owner, newOwner);
    _owner = newOwner;
}

Recommendation:

The team should carefully manage the private keys of the owner's account. We strongly recommend a powerful security mechanism that will prevent a single user from accessing the contract admin functions. The risk can be prevented by temporarily locking the contract or renouncing ownership.

CONCLUSION AND ANALYSIS

Smart Contracts within the scope were manually reviewed and analyzed with static tools.

Audit report overview contains all found security vulnerabilities and other issues in the reviewed code.

Found no HIGH issues during the first review.

TECHNICAL DISCLAIMER

Smart contracts are deployed and executed on the blockchain platform. The platform, its programming language, and other software related to the smart contract can have its vulnerabilities that can lead to hacks. The audit can't guarantee the explicit security of the audited project / smart contract.
